ABOUT GARAPA

Garapa, also known as Brazilian Oak, is a dense and hard hardwood with a beautiful lemon-yellow to honey colour that creates a striking, natural finish.

It offers natural slip resistance, high durability and excellent scratch resistance – perfect for barefoot living and high-traffic areas.

Garapa is naturally resistant to mould, decay and the elements, making it a low-maintenance choice for outdoor decking that lasts.

Over time, exposure to the sun may gently mellow the colour to a soft silver-grey if left untreated, or retain its warm golden tone with a quality UV-inhibiting finish.
